

SOCIETY

Bridge Club.

Mrs. Gus Brooks entertained the Bridge Club, Saturday afternoon, in her pleasant manner. The house was tastefully decorated in mistletoe and holly.

The guests enjoyed the playing until a late hour, wholly unconscious that time was flying. Immediately after the games, a most delicious and refreshing menu was served.

Among those present were: Mesdames Strother Goff, P. B. Winn, Ed Clark, Wylie Poynter, John Bean, Lee Evans, Will H. Garner, Ed Mitchell, Carrie Buckner, Steve Davis, John Worth, V. W. Bush, W. A. Beatty; Misses Sue Buckner and Ethel Garner.

Mrs. Brooks has been living in Winchester but a short time, but by her sweet and attractive ways has won many friends.

Mr. Hampton Entertains.

Mr. Tom Hampton entertained the Bridge Club, on Saturday evening at his country home, in his usual delightful way.

After playing until a late hour, an elegant and delicious "bird supper" was served.

Among those present were: Mrs. Strother Goff, Misses Theo Nelson, Ethel Garner, Sara Buckner; Messrs. Lewis Hampton, Ben Buckner and Stanley Nelson.

Mr. Hampton keeps "Bachelor's Hall," but has given some very attractive and unique entertainments.

OPERA HOUSE

The Boston Post speaks as follows of Lyman Howe's moving pictures, which are to be at the opera house, January 4:

"Lyman Howe's moving picture lecture on India, Sicily and Rome attracted a large audience to Tremont Temple last evening and delighted it for more than two hours.

The scenic representations, in the course of which various views taken both in this country and abroad were shown, were particularly fine, and gained applause from time to time as some especially lifelike representation would be flashed upon the screen.

Views of Niagara Falls, showing the great Mecca of the honeymooners in winter, were well nigh perfect reproductions of the great American world nature wonder, while the films of life in India transported one for the time being overseas to the land of the temples and the mystics.

There was a good sprinkling of humorous films, and the showing was well balanced between travel and jest. The same set of pictures will be shown again this afternoon and evening, and new films are announced for next week's performances."
